Your Australian tax file number

Dear MS YANG

Thank you for applying for your Australian tax file number (TFN). Your unique TFN is 456 677 909

This TFN is yours for life and will help you manage your Australian tax and superannuation, and establish your identity with government organisations. It is important that you keep this number secure, as in the wrong hands it could be used to commit fraud and identity theft.

Only certain people and organisations can ask you for your TFN, the most common being:

- the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) when discussing your tax records
- your employer after you start work
- your bank or financial institution
- other government agencies to claim benefits
- your super fund
- your university.

You never have to provide your TFN if asked, but in most of the above instances it will make it easier for approved people and organisations to help you.

You can find out more about:

- TFNs at www.ato.gov.au/tfn
- super and tax, including how to lodge tax returns online, at www.ato.gov.au/individuals
- how to protect your TFN and avoid identity crime at www.ato.gov.au/identitycrime

You can also manage your tax and super in one place using our online services. All you need is a myGov account linked to the ATO. For more information visit www.ato.gov.au/online services

If you have any questions about TFNs, phone:

- 13 28 61 (within Australia) between 8.00am and 6.00pm, Monday to Friday
- +61 2 6216 1111 (from overseas) between 8.00am and 5.00pm Australian Eastern Standard Time or Australian Eastern Daylight Time, Monday to Friday, and ask to be transferred to 'Personal tax enquiries'.

Yours sincerely

Robert Ravanello
Deputy Commissioner of Taxation
